CROWDS FLOCK TO GARDEN

Interest in Marine Engines
Growing to a Point That Indicates Big Business
This Year.

Business opened with a rush at the motor boat show at Madison Square Garden, yesterday, where big crowds were on hand. Saturday was given over largely to a general inspection of the many craft and engines on view, but further interest was indicated yesterday afternoon and evening, when orders began to pour in.

It is plain that officials of marine transportation companies are beginning to take the power boat more seriously than in the past. It has been built with the idea of competing in the trial races, and in a recent trial on the Potomac she covered a mile in 1:38, or at the rate of 52.8 miles an hour.

One of the most attractive boats in the show is the copy of Old Glory III, which made a remarkable run from New York to Nova Scotia. This boat is shown in the exhibit of the Loew-Victor Company, which has some remarkably fine motors that are attracting attention.

S. J. Frank, chairman of the ways and means committee of the National Yacht Club, visited the Garden in the afternoon and enrolled all the engine and boat manufacturers. Every exhibitor signed as a charter member of the new club, which is organized for the purpose of developing plans for the many serious business problems now confronting the nation.

The loving cups and trophies offered by Senator Cyprian C. Hunt to the Colonial Yacht Club for races on July 12 and 13 are exhibited at the show.

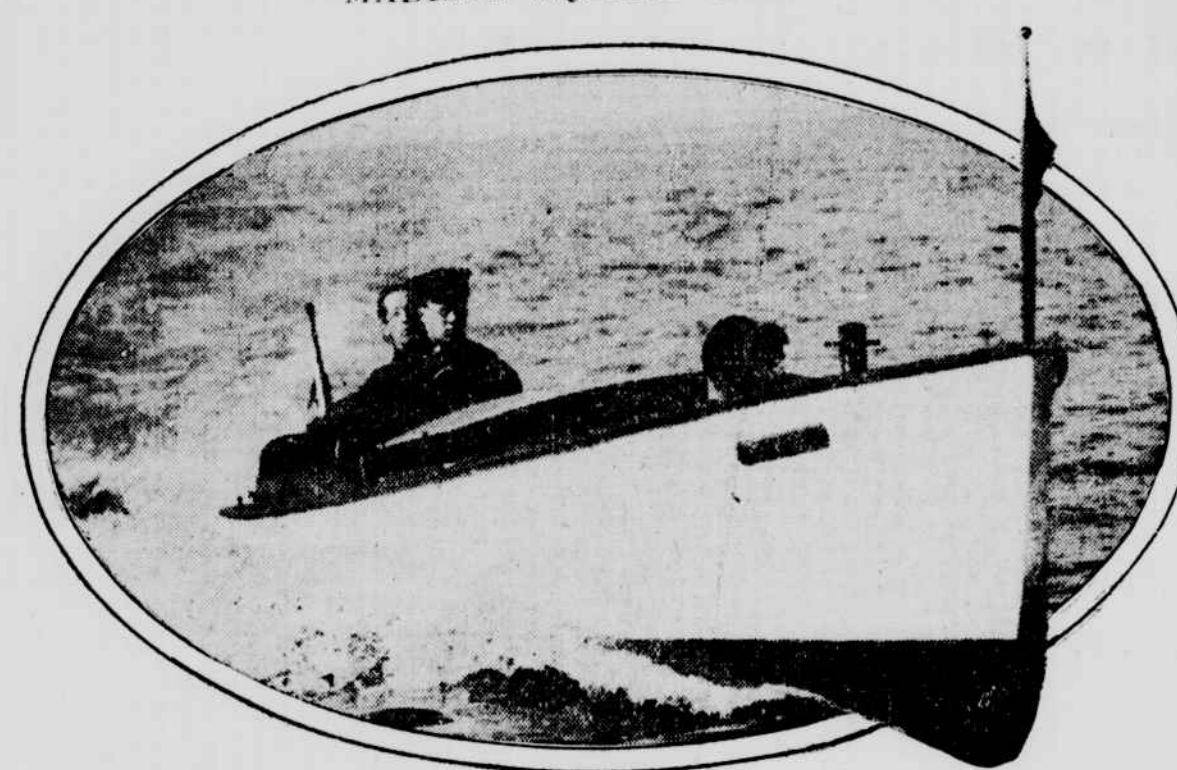

The annual Cornfield Lightship races for these trophies for cruising boats will start on July 12 at the Colonial Yacht Club at 2:30 o'clock. The course will be from the club grounds, Hudson River, north of 125th street, to and around the south end of Manhattan Island, up the East River past Throgs Neck, Stepping Stone and Excursion lights to and around Corvick Light vessel and return over the same course, finishing at the starting line, covering in all a distance of 181 nautical miles.

Another part of the Garden is the Baby Bellanca II, but fearing her underbody might be copied by builders of speed boats it is carefully screened from the public gaze. The boat looks well, but shows that she has had some severe battering during the last season.

In the front of the Garden is a new boat built on a new principle which has been tried and proved fast. It is called the Big Bug and is shown by the Elco Company. When tried on Newark Bay lately, she developed a speed of 45.13 miles an hour. She can carry more power and a prominent speed boat man is counting on having the boat equipped with a 300-horsepower engine and entering her in the trial races to be held for the purpose of selecting challengers for the British international trophy. With this power it is thought that the Big Bug will make better than 56 miles an hour, and some enthusiasts who have seen her run declare she will make even 60 miles an hour. She has a corrugated underbody, being an improved model of the famous Bug that did so well two years ago. She has five planes, and on each side of the body above these planes are air valves. When running she raises easily, runs smoothly and lifts about two-thirds out of the water.

Carburetors are always a serious question with motorboat men. There are several in use, some of which are more economical than others, and at the present, when the price of fuel seems to be on the up-grade, an economical carburetor is something that everybody is looking for. A new carburetor, or comparatively new one, because it has already been used on boats and tested thoroughly, is called the Planhard. It was used on the Dream, which won the race from Philadelphia to Bermuda and back last year, and C. L. Lagan, the owner of the boat, declares that the vessel ran without a miss over 4,500 miles last summer.

The Emerson III is a new boat which will make a strong bid for international honors this year. She has been built with the idea of competing in the trial races, and in a recent trial on the Potomac she covered a mile in 1:38, or at the rate of 52.8 miles an hour.

REACH SEMI-FINAL ROUND

Rosenbaum and Lovibond Are Eliminated After Struggle in Indoor Tourney.

Spirited matches in singles and doubles brought the surviving players level to the semi-final rounds in the national indoor lawn tennis championship tournament yesterday on the courts of the 7th Regiment Armory, 6th street and Park avenue. George C. Shafer, the former Columbia University star, took his place on the only open bracket remaining in the semi-final round of the singles by eliminating George G. Moore, Jr., by the score of 6-0, 6-2.

Shafer reeled off the six games of the first set with ease as Moore lunged at his drives, either landing the ball in the net or out of court. Moore was a trifle steadier in the second set, but the best he could do was to win the first and seventh games. Shafer will meet Wylie C. Grant, the playing through champion, this afternoon for the upper bracket in the final round, and at the same time

Broad Powers for the State Athletic Commission

Attorney General So Decides on Regulating Boxing.

Complaint May Now Be Lodged
Against Managers of the Empire Athletic Club.

Albany, Feb. 15.—The State Athletic Commission has exclusive power to regulate boxing matches, including the adoption of rules to regulate the sale of tickets, according to an opinion handed down by Attorney General Carmody here today.

The commission submitted three questions to the Attorney General concerning its jurisdiction to entertain a complaint against the Empire Athletic Club, of New York, in a proceeding to revoke the club's license upon the ground that it sold tickets in excess of the seating capacity of its clubhouse; whether the commission is authorized to prescribe rules to limit the number of tickets to be sold for boxing matches, or whether these matters are within the exclusive jurisdiction of the local authorities.

Attorney General Carmody says the Legislature intended, in the enactment of the Franchise law, to confer upon the State Athletic Commission plenary powers for the regulation of boxing matches. "The State Athletic Commission," continues the opinion, "has jurisdiction to entertain a complaint against the Empire Athletic Club in a proceeding to revoke its license, provided such complaint is based upon an allegation that the club has violated a reasonable rule of the commission in force on January 1, 1913, or an ordinance or statute pertaining to buildings in the city of New York."

The State Athletic Commission, in its sphere of regulation of boxing exhibitions, may revoke licenses to boxing clubs upon their violation of ordinances and statutes pertaining to buildings in the city of New York, subject, however, to review by the courts in certiorari proceedings.

Willie Beecher, the lightweight of the East Side, easily outboxed Bobby Scanlon, of Scranton, in a cyclonic ten-round bout at the Olympic Athletic Club, of Harlem, last night. In nine of the ten rounds Beecher had matters his own way and there were times when it seemed as though Scanlon would never last the limit, but he covered himself well in times of danger.

In the tenth round he came back with a game rally, rushing off the ropes and fighting Beecher back into a corner and landing solid wallop. It was only a dash in the rain, however, for Beecher came back fighting the fury and had the Scanton lad in trouble when the bell rang. It seemed in the first round that Scanlon was only feeling his man out.

He stepped back, taking a few desultory punches on the head and a couple in the body, boxing prettily.

So it was in the second, the only round in which Scanlon had the best of the going. It was evident that Scanlon was only a gymnasium boxer. He could not hit hard enough to dent butter and a few solid blows made him wince, cover and run away. He had speed and skill, for when he stood up he landed his left hand with rare precision. Such intervals were rare and Beecher won by a wide margin.

Both pairs played up faster and hit the ball harder in the second set. Shafer on the ball displayed brilliancy in the rallies, while Dr. Rosenbaum made up for poor smashing by Lovibond. Grant was the only player who did not lose a service game, and he was up seven times.

Grant and Shafer took things more easily in their next match, against H. McK. Glazebrook and Lincoln Reimer, winning at 6-0, 4-6, 6-2. George G. Moore, Jr., and Merle Johnson gained the other bracket by defeating George S. Groesbeck and Alan Tobey, the latter the Princeton player, by the score of 6-1, 6-1. Moore's racquet work improved in the doubles and Johnson supported him splendidly in the rallies. The semi-final round matches in the doubles will be decided this afternoon.

The point score by games in sets of the match in which Grant and Shafer defeated Dr. Rosenbaum and Lovibond follows:

TIMELY BITS OF SPORT

Frank Chance Likes Bermuda.

MEETING OF NEW LEAGUE

Six-Club Circuit Likely This Season, Including Long Island City.

Frank Chance arrived safely in Bermuda yesterday. Tom Davis, secretary of the Yankees, received a cable message saying that the new manager of the team was well and greatly impressed with the place at first sight as a training camp for spring practice. He carefully inspected the hotel reserved for the players and walked out to the cricket grounds, where the diamond will be laid out. His message read:

"All well. Looks like a good place to train. Turf in fine condition for diamond."

Tom Davis also announced that Al Schmitz, a pitcher of whom much is expected, had sent in his signed contract with the encouraging words that he was in good condition and ready for the test.

Club owners of the newly organized New York and New Jersey Interstate League will hold their final organization meeting in the Hotel Cadillac at 2 o'clock today. With the disappearance of the American and National League owners from the city the Interstate men will have the field to themselves, and plan to hold a rousing meeting. Each city will be represented by at least three delegates.

The temporary president, William H. Pfann, hopes to dispose of the business before the members in record breaking time, and will endeavor to complete the adoption of a five-thousand-word constitution, elect permanent officers and appoint a schedule committee between the hours of 2 and 5 o'clock.

After visiting the several cities which were suggested for membership at the meeting two weeks ago Pfann has come to the conclusion that it would be for the best interests of the league to inaugurate its first season as a 12-city organization, and will recommend to his colleagues that the circuit consist of Poughkeepsie, Paterson, Newburg, Middletown, Kingston and Long Island City.

The first named five were voted charter members at the first meeting. Long Island City business men and borough officials of Queens having since decided that a league team would help boost their city, their application for membership undoubtedly will receive favorable action. President Charles H. Ebbetts of the Brooklyn club has promised his consent to an invasion of his territory.

The success of this league seems assured. It will be the first time that a league has started with city, state and borough officials and members of the Chamber of Commerce as financial backers of each team, to the exclusion of outside interests.

Joe Tinker, manager of the Cincinnati Reds, denies the charges brought against him by Johnny Evers, of the Cubs, that he is violating the rules of baseball by tampering with Walter Cheney, the Chicago pitcher. Tinker asserts that Cheney holds a written permit from Charles Webb Murphy, president of the Cubs, allowing him to negotiate with any club that is willing to pay him the price he demands. Is it possible that Chubby Cheney has an axe to grind?

A bill introduced in the Indiana Legislature for the repeal of the Sunday baseball law, which permits professional baseball games between the hours of 11 a. m. and 5 p. m., has been defeated. The passing of such a law would prove a hard blow to the Indianapolis club of the American Association, which plays to big crowds on that day.

The Chicago Cubs, thirty-six strong, arrived at Tampa, Fla., yesterday, to begin training for the approaching baseball season. Archer, the great catcher, Larry Cheney and Al Bridwell were among the missing.

Casey Hergeman, the pitcher, released by the Boston Red Sox to Denver last season, but who refused to report, has reconsidered and signed with the Grizzlies.

A report from Philadelphia says that Pat Moran, the veteran catcher of the Phillies, probably will be sold to the Cincinnati Reds within a few days. Joe Tinker wants Moran to coach his pitchers and take an occasional turn behind the bat.

KUHN TO SUCCEED BAKER
Elected Captain of Princeton Hockey Team for Next Season.

Princeton, N. J., Feb. 15.—Wendell Speers Kuhn, of the class of '14, was today elected captain of the Princeton hockey team for next season. Kuhn, who was a member of last year's championship team, began his hockey career at St. Paul's School, Concord, where he played for two years as a teammate with "Hobey" Baker. Kuhn always plays centre and has steadily improved each year, ranking next to Baker among the Princeton players. He should make a competent leader of next year's seven. Kuhn is not only a hockey star, but holds a position on the university law team.

"Hobey" Baker, who was nominated for the captaincy, refused to run, resigning in favor of Kuhn.

KRAMER WINS IN PARIS

Captures Both Heats in Cycle
Race with Hourlier.

Advices received at Newark yesterday told of the victory of Frank Kramer, the American champion cyclist, over Leon Hourlier, the best of the French riders, in Paris on Sunday. The match was to be the best two out of three heats, but as the American won two in succession a third was not necessary.

There had been much speculation over the contest among Kramer's friends, as he had never met Hourlier, and the latter within the last two seasons has developed into one of the best of the French riders. Kramer by jockeying forced the Frenchman to set the pace in each heat and then, coming from behind, won in the homestretch. The finishes were close.

Another victory was registered by an American rider at the same meet, when George Wiley, the American champion pace follower, led home Paul Guignard, the French title holder, in a motor paced race. The cable message said that Wiley created a new world's record, but did not state just what the time was.

TERRY STILL IN THE LEAD

Weschler and Mathews Also Win in Billiard Tourney.

Clyde B. Terry and Phillip Weschler continued their way through the national class C 182 ball game billiard championship last night by holding to their unbroken line of victories on the tables in Maurice Daly's academy, 6th street and Broadway. Meanwhile C. P. Mathews, of Brooklyn, hung up his first victory, in the ninth game of the series under the direction of the National Association of Amateur Billiard Players.

Mathews made the best average of the night as he defeated Irving Lewine, of the City Athletic Club, by 29 points to 141. Terry's average was 2.38, and the best he collected in the way of runs was a repetition of 14, the first being worked out at cushion, carroms on his sixth visit to the table, and the second coming in his thirty-sixth inning. Harris compiled a run of 20.

Weschler defeated Claude R. Lewis, of Brooklyn, by the score of 29 to 174. Weschler's average was 2.47, and his best runs eclipsed any of the others of the night, being 29, 22 and 16. Lewis put together a run of 21 as his best effort.

Only two matches will be decided tonight in the series. Terry meeting Lewine and Mathews meeting Lewis.

The standing of the contestants follows:

Player	Won	Lost	High. Single	High. Run
C. B. Terry	2	0	45	2
P. Weschler	2	0	35	2
C. P. Mathews	1	1	28	3
I. Lewine	1	1	28	3
C. R. Lewis	1	1	21	3
W. W. Harris	0	1	29	2

RACQUETS PLAYERS READY

Big Entry for Annual Tourney for National Title.

More than usual interest is centred in the annual national racquets championship tournament, scheduled to begin today in the court of the Racquet and Tennis Club, West 43d street. For several weeks players have been practising diligently and are in fine form.

The intensity phase of the competition is brought out prominently this year, for players from Chicago, Montreal, Boston and Toledo are entered. Philadelphia will not be represented on this occasion, for the reason that George H. Brooke, a former champion, and Wilson Potter are devoting most of their leisure time to court tennis. Prominent local absentees are Payne Whitney and George C. Clark.

A good deal is expected of Harold P. McCormick, of Chicago, winner of this year's Gold Racquet at Toledo. E. Green, of the Montreal Racquet Club, is a favorite, but Joshua Crane, Jr., and Hugh Scott, the Boston pair, are always hard to beat. Q. A. Shaw, the Boston player who won the title a year ago, has not entered.

Because of the entries being larger than usual, the tournament will start at 9:30 o'clock this morning. Seven matches are on the card. There will be no play on Friday, so that the winners in the semi-final round on Thursday will have an excellent chance to rest for the final contest, slated for 2 p. m. on Saturday.

The draw is as follows:

FIRST ROUND

9:30 a. m.—J. W. Prentiss, New York, vs. J. G. J. Smith, Jr., Toledo.
10:15 a. m.—George M. Brooks, Toledo, vs. Hugh D. Scott, Boston.
11 a. m.—William P. Bush, New York, vs. George A. Thorne, Chicago.
11:45 a. m.—Lawrence Waterbury, New York, vs. Edwin Healy, Toledo.
12:30 p. m.—Harold P. McCormick, Chicago, vs. Charles R. Sands, New York.
1:15 p. m.—Gronlie Clark, New York, vs. W. Smith, Montreal.
2 p. m.—Clarence C. Pell, Toledo, vs. Joshua Crane, Jr., Boston.
2:45 p. m.—E. Green, Montreal, a bye.

SECOND ROUND—WEDNESDAY

11 a. m.—Winner Prentiss-Mortimer vs. winner Brooks-Scott.
12 m.—Winner Burden-Thorne vs. winner Waterbury-Healy.
1 p. m.—Winner McCormick-Sands vs. winner Clark-Smith.
2 p. m.—Winner Pell-Crane vs. Green-Semi.

SEMI-FINAL ROUNDS—THURSDAY

11 a. m.—First semi-final.
